SOLVING COMMON CHALLENGES TO FARM TRANSFERS – Troy Schneider

Planning for succession is tough and, at times, an emotional process. Each farm is unique, but most family farms share the same hurdles in developing plans for ownership and management succession. Left unresolved, problems can arise that adversely affect the farm business and relationships. As a ‘family farm lawyer’, Attorney Troy Schneider will discuss the most common problems farm families face in farm succession planning and will offer practical methods to manage and resolve challenges with success.

Wednesday, December 7 (register by Nov. 30)

YOUR FARM SUCCESSION PLAN IS A LIVING DOCUMENT – George Twohig

You may have started your farm succession plan by forming an operating LLC, transferring membership interests to your designated successors and signing an estate plan with provisions regarding the transfer of farm assets. Since transition planning is dynamic, there are often changes along the way. Attorney George Twohig will discuss the necessary actions to keep your transfer plan moving forward. He’ll outline how to review, reassess and change transfer plans so that it continues to effectively meet both generations’ evolving goals and objectives.
