RUNNING YOUR BUSINESS DURING VOLATILE TIMES

Get the answers to nagging business questions: How does a busy dairy producer handle the volatility of markets, input prices and the resulting revenue? What's driving economic activity? How can anyone producing milk stay on top of it all and make smart business decisions? What tools can be used to stay ahead? Basse will share information that can help you navigate through these tough economic times with more confidence.

Monday, November 28 (register by November 21)

WHAT DOES 2012 LOOK LIKE FOR DAIRY?

What in the world is going to happen with our prices next? This session will discuss the outlook for 2012 and zero in on the economic and fundamental factors that will drive dairy pricing and profitability. You'll gain answers to these—and other—questions: Will the corn/milk ratio improve? Will New Zealand production recover in the wake of the drought? Will a rise in U.S. dairy trade continue to bolster the U.S. milk price outlook? And you'll find out why it's important to know what country is the lowest grain price seller and which is the highest grain price buyer.
